WHO WE ARE

Jeremiah House is a faith-based, 12-month recovery program for men facing addiction and mental health challenges. Located in the rural community of Chandler, OK, in Lincoln County, we address a critical need in an area where addiction-related suicides per capita surpass those of Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

Our program provides safe housing for up to eight men during their recovery journey and an additional four in our graduate house, offering continued support as they transition into independent living. At Jeremiah House, we focus on healing the whole person—mind, body, and spirit—empowering men to reclaim their lives and build a future of hope and stability.

MISSION

To build and restore the lives of men experiencing addiction through recovery, faith, encouragement and service to others.

VISION

To equip men with a positive pathway of hope, giving them the opportunity to gain knowledge of independent living skills, coping skills, sobriety, spirituality, work ethic, and housing, to increase their outlook on life and being a member of their community.

STRATEGIC GOALS AND INITIATIVES

1

Continue to grow our program to embrace and support recovery and mental health challenges for the men we serve;

2

Expand our programming to include hands-on work such as lawn care business, developing a workshop, and exploring new landscaping opportunities;

3

Launch a campus expansion campaign, which will include a chapel, workshop, greenhouse, and gardening structures;

4

Broaden our fundraising efforts through initiatives like our "Boots for Hope" night, pursuing grant opportunities, and engaging the community for increased public support through individual donations.
